Rexdale Women's Centre

Annual Report 2020 – 2021

2020 was a year where we faced incredible and unimaginable challenges across the world and in our community. With the challenges, Rexdale Women's Centre stood strong and refused to bend. We were and continue to be resolute in our convictions to address the financial, physical, and emotional well-being and sense of belonging of our clients.

As the pandemic unfolded, we watched as women and their families: our client community of newcomers, immigrants, migrants, children, youth, and seniors experience greater degrees of unemployment, financial precariousness, lack of digital and internet access, food insecurity, lack of basic necessities, illness, isolation, loneliness and even death.

We all learned together to access programs and services online or over the telephone. We established drop off and pick up protocols and routines. We did not give up and we continued to push forward.

In order to ensure our client's economic and financial security, we obtained and distributed gift cards, partnered with sector supporters to provide financial support for those most affected and at risk. We expanded our employment services and assisted our clients to access government financial supports. We delivered school supplies and provided gifts for children during Christmas.

We assisted our clients to address safety by increasing supports for women experiencing gender-based violence and providing non-medical masks, protective equipment and supplies, face shields, hygiene kits and hand sanitizers. We assisted our clients to access testing and vaccination centres so critical for their health and well-being.

We worked tirelessly with community partners to address food insecurity for vulnerable seniors and mothers with young children. We worked with partners to identify, deliver, and distribute prepared hot meals, and grocery hampers.

We have supported our clients to access and obtain technical devices and internet support to access online services and programs and reducing the digital divide.

We increased and created new services to support our clients during COVID-19. We assisted our clients to be able to cope better with the many challenges they experienced and continue to build their self-confidence and self-sufficiency skills and continue to foster their sense of belonging in the community.

Through the strong support of staff, volunteers and board members, Rexdale Women's Centre remained strong and resilient. We rose to the challenge and our call to action was immediate and impactful.

Our staff worked miracles and found ways to address the needs of our clients. Our board of directors continued to steward staff and provided timely and strategic guidance when called upon.

We have learned a great deal during the last fiscal year: new skills, new way of living, interacting with one another, and reaching out for support. But most of all, we have learned to care and support one another as a community, as we would for our own family. We learned that we are in this together and every action taken, no matter how small, makes a difference.

We are proud of our work and support of our clients and the community.

We thank you for allowing us to work with and support you.

Thank you
